Marilyn Monroe To Divorce Husband, Joe DiMaggio; Careers Won't Blend

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 4 (AP)—The nine-month marriage of movie queen Marilyn Monroe and baseball hero Joe DiMaggio shattered today and she will sue for divorce.

The news, announced by the blonde star's studio, hit Hollywood like an A-bomb. There had been no hint of anything but harmony in the DiMaggio home.

Both the sometime Yankee Clipper and his voluptuous wife were secluded in their English farmhouse in Beverly Hills. A horde of newsmen and television and newsreel photographers waited outside most of the day—in vain.

At 2:45 p.m. Jerry Giesler, famous filmtown lawyer, and Harry Brand, publicity chief at Miss Monroe's studio, emerged.

"She won't be out today," the attorney said. "I will try to set up a press conference in my office for Wednesday noon. She is sick and cannot talk now."

Giesler said he expected to file the divorce suit tomorrow in Santa Monica. "The charges will be innocuous—the usual mental cruelty," he said. He added Joe had no comment and was not represented by an attorney in the proceedings.

Giesler said there would be no alimony and no community property in the settlement. He offered the opinion that incompatibility and "conflict of careers" was the reason for the breakup and added that both parties still are friendly. Asked if Joe would be moving out today, Giesler replied, "I don't think so."

He denied reports that the recent sidewalk photos of Miss Monroe's skirt blowing over her head in New York had anything to do with the split. He also commented that she was not pregnant.

"They've talked it over and reached a pleasant understanding," he said.

Only a handful of intimates knew there was trouble brewing between the pair. On Sept. 9, the famed calendar girl flew to New York for locations of "Seven-Year Itch." She was slated to return Sept. 12, but a hurricane delayed her. Joe flew to join her.

"They seemed to be very much in love," said a studio source who was with them. "They are not the demonstrative type, but they appeared to be warmly affectionate."

They flew back here together Sept. 16. Last week he returned to New York to cover the World Series for a syndicate. She continued working in her picture.

She was scheduled to work this morning, but called the studio and said she couldn't make it. The schedule was quickly rearranged to shoot around her. Then she told the studio of the split.

An intimate reported they had little in common. Before she met the baseball star, she had little or no interest in sports. He was publicly shy and refused to stand in the spotlight that surrounded her. Until this year, his career interests were on the East Coast, while she earned her fabulous living here.

He gave up his New York television work so they could spend more time together here. But she started working almost as soon as she returned from the honeymoon and has seldom had a day off since.

Recently in New York, Marilyn denied reports that Joe spent many nights away from home playing poker.

"Joe does all his poker playing at home," she said. "He has no gypsy in him that would cause him to stay away nights. It's difficult enough to get him out of the house. He liked to putter around, take an occasional dip in the pool and just lounge in a big easy chair."

Firemen Stage Largest Parade In County History

EAST STROUDSBURG'S fire whistle started the biggest Fire Prevention Week parade in county history on the march last night.

The five-division parade moved out smoothly from East Stroudsburg High School, and moved between crowd-lined curbs all the way down Courtland St.

An estimated 500 paraders took part, with some 30 pieces of fire equipment from the most modern to the most ancient—rolling along between the bands.

A number of out-of-town units took part in the parade for the first time. Fire companies were present from Pen Argyl and Portland, and a Roseto Boy Scout band proved one of the smartest units in the line of march.

Companies from Mount Pocono and Barrett took part in the affair also for the first time.

Stroudsburg's company turned up with its traditional two-horse power steamer fire engine—pulled by two horses, that is.

But the huge gleaming red aerial ladder trucks were also in the parade, along with squat boosters and pump trucks, and even a few pieces of fire equipment maintained by industry in the county.

Marchers proceeded across the interborough bridge and up Main St. to Eighth, then moved north to the Stroudsburg Firehouse.

There refreshments were served to marchers, with Stroudsburg Fire Co. and Acme House of East Stroudsburg as joint hosts.

Stroudsburg moved ahead with plans for another major demonstration to highlight Fire Prevention Week.

It will be an all-out fire drill for the company and all pieces of apparatus, at 7 p.m. today.

The regular fire whistle will signal the start of the drill.

The theoretical fire will engulf the Masonic Building on Main St. at Sixth St., burning the Acme Store and the apartments in the two stories above.

Trucks will take position on Main St., Sixth St., and in the parking lot behind the building—including three pumps, two boosters and the aerial ladder truck. Light plants and portable equipment will be used, rescue equipment broken out and the building will be laddered on all sides.

Chief Millard Marsh instructed all firemen to wear caps at the drill for purposes of identification.

Duclos Called For Questioning

PARIS, Oct. 4 (AP)—Jacques Duclos, No. 2 man in the French Communist party will be summoned for questioning Wednesday by the military magistrate investigating leaks of vital French military secrets, security officers said tonight.

Duclos, deputy to Secretary General Maurice Thorez and actual leader of the party during Thorez' continuing illness, will be confronted with Andre Baranes, Baranes, a Communist journalist, has admitted that he is a Communist party agent and that he has given the party secret information on meetings of the National Defense Council. He also has been described as a police tipster.

Duclos returned only three days ago from the Soviet Union where he was vacationing with Thorez.

Chances Good For Approval Of Alliance

PARIS, Oct. 4 (AP)—Chances for French parliamentary approval of the London agreements to rearm West Germany appeared bright today.

Members of center and rightist parties as well as followers of Gen. Charles de Gaulle praised Premier Pierre Mendes-France for protecting French sovereignty and retaining a close partnership with Britain in the nine-power negotiations.

The key to the success of the new plan, which replaces the European Defense Community army plan killed by the French Assembly, appeared to lie in the hands of the left-of-center Popular Republican Movement (MRP), and the Socialists.

One MRP member, who declined to be quoted by name, predicted the premier will swing a substantial majority behind the decisions to bring West Germany into expanded Brussels alliance and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Mendes-France, taking the initiative to prevent any buildup of opposition in parliamentary circles through delayed consideration, has called an extraordinary session of the assembly beginning Thursday to hear his report on the London talks. The ratification vote, however, may not come for several weeks.

When the legislators reconvene, this likely will be the attitude of the key MRP and Socialist parties:

MRP, the party of Georges Bidault and Robert Schuman, is staunchly pro-European. The party strongly backed the defunct EDC plan, and many members are still bitter against Mendes-France, who had no part in negotiating EDC, refused to stake his government's future on that treaty in a vote of confidence and sharply criticized the plan himself.

The Socialists, whose support could give the premier an overwhelming margin on the London agreements, scheduled a meeting of their executive committee for Wednesday night. Guy Mollet, party secretary, said he could not comment on the London agreements until he had studied their texts. Mollet said the Wednesday meeting will decide whether a national council of the party should be called.

While Paris was optimistic over chances for eventual assembly approval of the new plan, a note of caution crept into West Germany's generally hopeful view.

Various West German political parties, including Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's own Christian Democrat Union (CDU), were still studying the texts released yesterday in London. CDU's press service said the "practical ending of the occupation era" in West Germany was the most important result at London.

But the West German Socialists, who have sharply criticized Adenauer's European negotiations, issued a press statement repeating their view that this is a time for caution and not for big words that may fail to develop into big deeds.

Supreme Court Ends Vacation

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—The Supreme Court came back from a four-month vacation today and opened a new term expected to produce far-reaching decisions on how to end segregation in the public schools.

There were only formalities in today's 25-minute ceremony and the court's actual business won't start until next Monday. The final segregation decisions are not expected until next spring.

The court has set the week of Dec. 6 for hearing new arguments on public school segregation, which it declared unconstitutional last May 17. The new arguments are intended to help the court determine how and when to order integration into effect.

The Commerce Department said that in accepting applications for airport help it gave highest priority which would "increase safety and the efficiency of aviation operations."

Included in the new allocations is Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton Airport, $116,500.

CLU Votes To Stand Pat On Decision To Withhold Its Support From Chest

MEMBERS OF MONROE County Central Labor Union have voted to stand pat on refusing to support the Community Chest, CLU President John Farley said late last night.

The question was reviewed at a meeting Sunday night which lasted three and a half hours. "A majority" voted to refrain from supporting the chest, Farley said, despite pleas by Chest officials and arguments advanced by Chest President Elton P. Hall.

"Our stand is the same as it was at the previous (September) meeting," said Farley. The stand was that support was being withheld because the union thought the Y was one of the 32 agencies which receives Chest funds.

The Plumber's Union and Hartford Cleveland, plumbing contractor, are in the midst of a court battle over picketing at the Y. But Y officials are not involved in the court affair.

Girl Darts Across Alley, Is Struck By Automobile
A THREE-YEAR-OLD girl running to greet her father was hit by a car in Bank Alley, Stroudsburg, at 5:20 p.m. yesterday.

The child, Deborah LeBar, of 7 Elm St., East Stroudsburg, was reported in "fair" condition at the General Hospital, East Stroudsburg.

Officer Richard Wolbert of Stroudsburg said her father, Andrew LeBar, was just leaving work at the Bell Telephone Co. garage in the alley. Mrs. LeBar had come down with her daughter, and parked the family car in the lot behind Colonial Diner.

Mrs. LeBar and Debbie got out of the car. When Debbie saw her father across the alley, she broke away from her mother and ran toward him, Wolbert said.

According to Wolbert, LeBar spotted a car moving down the alley. The father yelled for the driver to stop. The driver turned his head to look at LeBar, and at that moment Debbie dashed from behind a parked auto and into the path of the moving vehicle, Wolbert said.

The child was hit and thrown a short distance, police said.

The driver was listed as George Wakefield Jr., 39, Stroudsburg RD. He and LeBar picked up the child at once and drove her to the hospital in Wakefield's auto.

Arnaz Recovering After Illness
HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 4 (AP)—Desi Arnaz, who performed on a nationally televised program last night with a fever of 101, was reported recovering today from the effects of a virus.

Arnaz and his wife, Lucille Ball, were guests of honor last night on Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town" program. After Desi did a vocal number while vigorously accompanying himself on a drum Sullivan remarked he deserved praise for performing while ill.

That's what happened. But time had passed, and the few originals had now turned into many descendants . . . 39 of them.

Other deeds recorded: Mr. and Mrs. Lester G. Abloff, East Stroudsburg, to Mr. and Mrs. Anders Mokastet, Hamilton Township, a Hamilton dwelling on Route 209.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dittus, East Stroudsburg, to Mr. and Mrs. Dan Pace, Delaware Water Gap, a Smithfield Township property on the road from Stroudsburg to Delaware Water Gap.

Woman Buys Small Property From 39 People; Grantors Live As Far Away As California
MRS. CATHERINE Metzgar has bought a small plot in Hamilton Township from 39 people.

The deed recording the transaction was filed yesterday at the office of Floyd Butz. It may not have been the biggest deed, money-wise, in recent times, but it was certainly one of the fattest in terms of sheets of paper.

The owners of the property all had to sign the deed, as grantors. They lived all across the United States, from New York to Ohio to Montana to California.

A handful were local people like Kenneth Shafer of Stroudsburg. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Deiter of Stroudsburg RD., and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marsh, Stroudsburg RD. 2. The rest were from outside the county.

Reason there were so many owners was revealed in the deed. The paper showed there had been a "reversion clause" in the original transfer. The property adjoined A. B. Shafer land, and comprises only 60 perches.

The original transfer said if the property was no longer to be used for school purposes, the property would revert to the original owners.

No Trace Of Falcone Reported

PALMERTON, Pa., Oct. 4 (AP)—State police pressed their search today for Daniel Falcone of nearby Bangor, wanted for questioning in the double slaying of Justice of the Peace Matthew Daneker and his wife, Mildred.

The couple was shot to death at point blank range last night as they left their car to enter Trinity Evangelical Congregational Church.

The assailant, described as a costless man, fled on foot eluding a crowd of horrified churchgoers including the couple's only son, Richard, 16.

Falcone, 48, is a foreman in a shirt factory where Mrs. Daneker was employed.

Daneker, 38, was choir master at the church and his wife was a member of the group. They were married in 1938. Daneker worked at the New Jersey Zinc Co. of Palmerton besides handling his affairs as a state official. He had been active in Republican politics as had his father who preceded him as justice of the peace.

Results of an inquest by Carbon County Coroner William Weyhenmeyer indicated the couple had been shot with a .22 calibre gun. The weapon has not been found. A new gun case, however, was found in Falcone's car, which was parked near the church. The auto has been impounded.

State Police Cpl. Thomas Barclay, who is heading the probe, said no official motive has been established for the killing.

A report reached Bangor police that Falcone was seen in a field near Richmond by a Bangor resident. He ran across a field when seen by the observer, police were told. State police are investigating.

Two Nations Hail Soviet Atomic Plan

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 4 (AP)—Britain and France today hailed the new Russian proposals on atomic control as a step forward, but emphasized they want to know exactly how far Moscow has gone toward agreement with the West.

Selwyn Lloyd, British minister of state, gave the first Western answer to the atomic resolution introduced by Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky last Thursday. His stand was quickly endorsed by the chief French delegate, Guerin du Bosq de Beaumont.

Lloyd told the U. N. Assembly the Vishinsky plan is an apparent move toward proposals laid down by Britain and France in secret U. N. disarmament talks in London last June 11.

"That is a fact to be welcomed," Lloyd said as the ranking Russian delegate in the hall, Jacob A. Malik, took notes. Vishinsky was absent.

"It may be," Lloyd added, "that their resolution is put forward solely to confuse the domestic political situation in countries considering a German defense contribution."

However, he added, Britain will deal with these problems in the various U. N. bodies which will consider them and will never give up efforts to reach an agreement.

"The sincerity of our desire for effective disarmament was shown by our proposals of June 11th, 1951, which I still maintain are a blue print for world disarmament," Lloyd said. "The fact that our proposals have at length been accepted as a basis—I hope there is no mistake or misunderstanding about that—is a step forward. It is a cause for satisfaction that, after years of apparently profitless debate, the Western proposals of June 11 and Russian acceptance of them as a basis hold out the possibility of progress in this all important field."

Conductors Call Pullman Strike

CHICAGO, Oct. 4 (AP)—The order of Railway Conductors has called a strike against the Pullman Co. effective Oct. 19.

J. A. Paddock, senior vice president of the ORC, said today the union has sent a notice to locals instructing them to set up picket lines if the strike begins and to request all service employees to respect the lines.

Paddock said the strike would affect 1,600 Pullman conductors who are demanding a 5-cent-an-hour wage boost and a three-week of vacation.

Lutherans To Convene In Toronto

MEETING IN CANADA for the first time in its 36-year history, the United Lutheran Church in America will hold its 19th biennial convention in Toronto, Oct. 6 to 13. Nearly 700 delegates from 32 synods in the United States and seven Canadian provinces will attend. The ULCA's 2,150,000 members make it the largest Lutheran body in North America.

Rev. E. T. Horn, D.D., of Tannersville, will attend the convention. The theme will be "Christ—The Hope of the World." The delegates will be called upon for far-reaching decisions affecting the structure of the church. Much of the convention business will be devoted to action upon a "Little Hoover" commission report for streamlining the administration of the church body.

After an 18-month study, a 15-member Commission on Organizational Structure has recommended 118 changes in the church's operation to make it a more effective church. The commission will also propose "a more specific approach" be made by the United Lutheran Church for uniting America's Lutheran bodies. It will suggest steps leading to direct merger of the eight Lutheran church bodies of the National Lutheran Council. These eight bodies have more than four million members.

Bishop Eivind Berggrav, former primate of the Church of Norway, will preach the sermon at Holy Communion services at the opening of the convention on Wednesday morning at St. James' Cathedral, Toronto. Business sessions will get under way Wednesday afternoon, with Rev. Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, president of the ULCA for the past 10 years presiding. Dr. Fry is the new chairman of the Central Committee of the World Council of Churches, having been elected as head of the 90-member policy making committee at the Second Assembly of the World Council in Evanston during August.

A "United Lutheran Rally" will be held Sunday afternoon at the Kitchener Memorial Auditorium in eastern Canada. Dr. Paul C. Empe, executive director of the National Lutheran Council, and Dr. Clarence C. Stoughton, president of Wittenberg College, Springfield, Ohio will speak over a national radio network. An orchestra, two choirs and 10,000 persons are expected to take part in the rally. The convention will interrupt its proceedings Monday night, Oct. 11, for a special service at the convention hall.

L-M Employees To Work Extra Half Day; Money Earned Earmarked For Charity Fund

EMPLOYEES in eight departments of Line Material Co., East Stroudsburg have already signed up for the novel Good Neighbor Day project which for the past few years has produced a fund from which allocations are made to Community Chest and a number of independent fund drives in the area.

Each participant receives a membership card in the Line Material Charity Fund which relieves him from contributions to individual agencies—because of the Community-Chest-like system the employees of Line Material have so ably operated.

Created in the Line Material system a few years ago, the plan works like this:

Employees who are members of the project work a half day on a specific Saturday. They are paid time and one-half pay, but the pay goes into the Good Neighbor Fund.

Those workers not under the time and one-half pay schedule work the half day and get paid for a full day—also into the fund.

Thus, without giving anything more than their time, the workers create a fund which takes care of all campaigns for funds for the health and welfare of the community without giving a cent from their pocket.

Funds so raised are administered according to the dictates of the workers who participate.

Degree of participation has been phenomenal and an all-out effort paced by employees of eight departments who have signed 100 per cent is expected this year.

Last year for instance 234 out of a possible 253 employees—or 92.5 per cent—worked four overtime hours for "Good Neighbor Day", contributing $2,620 to their Line Material Charity Fund.

Out of the amount $1,950 went to Community Chest agencies, $235 to Red Cross, $100 each to Cancer, March of Dimes, Tuberculosis Society, leaving $135 for an emergency fund.

The 100 per cent departments are shop shipping, office shipping, accounting, cost, planning and scheduling, sales and marketing, order and billing, material control.

Fire Truck Shipped To Saylorsburg

SAYLORSBURG — Members of the Blue Ridge Hook & Ladder Volunteer Fire Co. had real reasons to celebrate the opening of Fire Prevention Week yesterday.

Fire Chief George Kitchen announced he had received a wire that a new 750-gallon-per-minute pump had been shipped to the company and is due in Saylorsburg Wednesday.

Purchased through the Civil Defense program, the big unit will cost about $10,000 with everything on its except fire hose.

It is a General Detroit truck from Lansing, Mich.

Blue Ridge, with the addition of the new pump, will rank with the best of volunteer fire companies in the smaller communities of the Poconos.

The volunteer firemen already have a 350-gallon pumper, a utility truck for their Indian tanks and other equipment used to fight forest and field fires; a portable pump and a portable electric lighting system.

Chief Kitchen said last night members of the company have four weeks to go before finishing training in a school of advanced fire fighting.

Fire Prevention

Volunteer firemen in Monroe County—your friends and neighbors—don't belong to fire companies for the sheer fun of fighting fires.

They don't train once a week to develop the latest techniques of fire fighting—saving property and lives—with the hope they'll be able to jump on a big red fire engine and fight a fire.

These men give many thousands of hours to fire fighting education; risk their lives, suffer injuries, ruin their clothes and give up time from work and relaxation to fight fires which a bit of common sense could have avoided.

You must understand they are the people who are sponsoring "Fire Prevention Week" here. They want you to take their advice and PREVENT fires. They have no desire to fight fires for the sake of fire fighting—but remember they're always ready to serve you.

Why not serve them by preventing fires?

The Season Changes

Poets in the past, and maybe now, knocked themselves into a sonnet over the glories of spring.

More sight of a daffodil, the chirp of a half-frozen robin and a boy making moon eyes at his girl, were enough...

All very well and good for those who like it, but consider autumn, the delightful season into which we have just entered.

The frost has already tipped the pumpkin in some sections of the Poconos. Trees and bushes are now blazing in many sections with scarlet, gold and brown.

Traffic, after a brief lull after Labor Day has started to pick up and jam back from traffic lights. A sure sign that thousands in the East appreciate autumn, especially with the Poconos flaming foliage so handy.

It's time for cider and grape jelly and a man can forget the puny repasts of the warm summer days. Instead it's substantial Pocono Mountains sausage and buckwheat cakes—given that proper touch, of course, with Pocono Mountains maple syrup.

The thud of the football is heard throughout the land and the forward passer replaces the pitcher as the Big Man of the playing field.

It's a time for reflection—an accounting of the past year—and a time to prepare for winter.

Who's Wiser

In Los Angeles, delegates to the American Federation of Labor convention adopted a resolution urging all 113 affiliated unions to drive for "substantial" wage increases.

In Toronto, the president of the Canadian Congress of Labor urged his 300,000 members to take it easy in pressing for higher pay.

A. R. Mosher, the Canadian labor leader, said wages are "wholly inadequate." Despite this view, he recommended caution in seeking raises from companies in highly competitive markets.

But the AFL recognized no such situations. Although it also adopted a resolution declaring a national economic slump, it urged member unions not to heed employers who resist wage raises on the ground there is such a slump.

Mr. Mosher said the result of trying to force pay increases from employers in competitive markets well might result in the employers being compelled to cut production (meaning layoffs) or going out of business altogether (meaning no jobs).

The desirability of pay increases never can be disputed. The advisability often is another matter. The Canadian labor federation considers both angles.

George Sokolsky Says...

With Dollar Gap Closed British Now Have Superiority In Financial World

At the end of World War II, the British were broke and they borrowed $3,750,000,000 from the United States for the purpose of getting started after a devastating war. This loan is, of course, lost in the shuffle of international politics. Since then the United States has donated between $50,000,000,000 and $60,000,000,000, the exact amount being difficult to calculate because some of these contributions were hidden in commercial arrangements of various types. Some day, a researcher may be able to work out the precise amount of the American gift to the British people.

The explanation to the American taxpayer was that the British were short of dollars and that the American dollar had become the principal world currency. To get on their feet, the British needed American dollars. To purchase what was necessary for their reconstruction and rehabilitation, they needed American dollars. And the American people, out of their taxes, gave them the dollars. It was a free will offering. The British, to some extent, regarded it as the dumping of American goods to keep our factories going and therefore no gift at all.

Now the so-called dollar gap is closed and the British have become more independent not only economically but politically. In fact, the British feel so strong that they risk the friendship of the United States by a diplomacy designed not only to reject American leadership but to damage American interests.

London is now seeking to capture its long held supremacy in the economic world. The major objective is to restore the pound sterling, first to a position of universal convertibility, and then to the position of the supreme currency of the world, replacing the American dollar.

The London "Economist" makes the point:

"London's pretensions to supremacy have been questioned twice within the span of a generation—both by cynics at home and aspirants abroad. After each world war the damage done to sterling, to Britain's status in world commerce and to the technical apparatus of the London market has seemed for a time to be so nearly irreparable as to justify these doubts. But now it can safely be said that each time the predictions of decay or decline have been falsified."

The British are justified in crowing over this achievement. It is a remarkable product of financial know-how. That it puts our financiers, who held the leadership and lost it, to shame is no fault of the British. Great Britain had lost her creditor position; she found a method of obtaining dollars without becoming a debtor to us, largely by obtaining dollars for nothing, never to be repaid. Whoever invented this method, from Lend-Lease through the Marshall Plan to European Military Aid, was serving Great Britain admirably, even if it placed a heavy burden upon the American people. If the United States now finds in Great Britain an able and even superior competitor, it can only be said that they took advantage of their opportunities and we did not.

The British, in discussing the present advantage, omit to mention the American aid and the colossal amount of such aid. Rather the "Economist" attributes Great Britain's wonderful success to:

"... First and foremost is the fact that the mechanism and the tradition of international banking inherited from the past are still intact. London's close integration of financial institutions of every kind—banks with branches or agencies throughout the world, the acceptance houses, the discount market, the bullion and foreign exchange dealers, insurance brokers, the shipping and commodity markets and the rest—is one unmatched by any other mercantile or financial capital in the world."

New York is supposed to have similar institutions, but admittedly New York bankers are not the equals of London bankers who possess a greater freedom of action and therefore must think nothing but the polish on that old cannon.

One day, however, in his twenty-sixth year of service, he suddenly discovered he was getting a wee bit bored with his job, and resigned willy-nilly.

That's when his faithful wife's nest-egg came in handy. She bought him a brass cannon of his own, and set him up in business for himself.

Aboard Captain Kidd's pirate ship, they say, each sailor had a specific duty and title. The cut-throat assigned to making unfortunate victims walk the plank, for instance, was always referred to as "Chairman of the Board."

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis We're Too Prone To Look For Evil, Seek Out Fault

Well, here is something brand new in contests. I just received an advance announcement, and you may see it or hear it advertised any day now.

The contest will be conducted by a rubber firm and it is to bally-hoo a new type of $1.49 household glove. You simply write a 25-word letter telling why you like the so-and-so gloves, and if you are one of the 10 lucky winners you get a whole month's maid service free of charge.

The sponsors think that this idea is something very wonderful because the housewife (you should pardon the expression; some people prefer "homemaker") does not have to share her prize with anyone else. It is hers alone to enjoy. That is what the sponsor says. How about all the kids, the husband and whatever other members of the family living in the house, giving orders to the maid?

Sometimes it seems to me that nowadays too many people are trying to paint home life and a wife's job as something almost unbearable.

Everybody expresses his sympathy with the poor housewife or homemaker, or whatever you call her, and tries to make it easier for her with all sorts of new push-button appliances and gadgets.

I have a lot of sympathy with our dear wives and am trying everything I can to make life easier for my own spouse. But is home life really so awful? Is it really necessary to make a woman's work so gosh darn easy that she won't know what to do with herself if things keep on being improved and simplified?

Every now and then I overhear conversation between women, and would you believe it, most of them actually seem to LIKE housework?

One of them likes to cook. Another loves to bake. Still another just dotes on sewing and needlework. A friend's wife is a metal-polishing maniac. Whenever she has nothing else to do she is busy experimenting with some new kind of brass or silver polish and she is never happy unless everything shines brighter than the sun.

We hear so much about home and family life disappearing from the American scene. Perhaps that is true in the very large cities where people live in one or two or three-room apartments, and practically sit on each other's lap and get on one another's nerves.

But I took a long ride out here in the country the other evening. It was some time between nine and ten o'clock and I could look into many of the various homes I passed. I know it isn't very good manners to snoop, but this snoop-trip was really a research job.

There was not a single home in which the lights were not lit. In some of them I saw mother at the kitchen sink, father in his easy chair reading the newspaper, the kids and their friends at television or listening to radio or phonograph. In one of the houses the youngsters were dancing in the living room.

I think that we are all too prone to look for evil and to find fault.

It is just as easy for the Jeremiah of literature to find out how many people are home at night as to write about all those who are out.

And, by the way, there might even be a lot of women who wouldn't WANT to win a free maid.

Try and Stop Me —by Bennet Cerf

Never Underestimate the value of a nest-egg—the secret savings the little woman has hidden in the cookie jar to take care of a rainy day. Remember Robert Benchley's story of the man whose sole job, for years, was shining up the Civil War commemorative brass cannon in a public square of Ypsilanti, Michigan. He did his job so well that people hundreds of miles away talked about practically nothing but the polish on that old cannon.

One day, however, in his twenty-sixth year of service, he suddenly discovered he was getting a wee bit bored with his job, and resigned willy-nilly.

That's when his faithful wife's nest-egg came in handy. She bought him a brass cannon of his own, and set him up in business for himself.

Aboard Captain Kidd's pirate ship, they say, each sailor had a specific duty and title. The cut-throat assigned to making unfortunate victims walk the plank, for instance, was always referred to as "Chairman of the Board."

Robert S. Allen Reports

Atomic Program Is Being Torn By Bad Dissension

Washington, October 5: A terrifying situation has developed backstage in the life-and-death atomic program!

It is being rent and disorganized by violent internal dissension.

The current rash of angry explosions over who did or didn't do what about developing an H-bomb is only one phase of this fearful crisis. Torrid as these public outbursts have been, they are a pale reflection of the furious warring going on behind-the-scenes.

Various factors are responsible for this vicious condition—clashing personalities, personal and professional jealousies and vendettas, growing rifts over fundamental concepts and policies, the atomic energy program, of which the hotly-battled Dixon-Yates contract is a particularly sensitive focal point, and certain classified matters which cannot be publicly discussed.

One of the most sensational is the reported failure of a hydrogen device in last spring's tests in the South Pacific.

This charge was openly hinted at in a recent statement by Senator Clinton Anderson, D., N. M. He was one of the leaders of the bitter filibuster against the Dixon-Yates power contract. Dr. Edward Teller, reputed "father" of the H-bomb, played a leading part in creating the allegedly abortive hydrogen weapon.

So alarming is this inflamed backstage situation that Anderson and three other members of the powerful Joint Atomic Committee are already saying privately that a full-scale investigation is imperative.

It is significant that they are all Democrats—Representatives Chet Holifield, Calif., Melvin Price, Ill., and Carl Durham, N. C. They are declaring that one of the first things they will demand in the new Congress, which convenes next January, will be a thorough atomic probe by their Committee.

The Battlers—A wide range of prominent figures is involved in this intensifying dissension.

Chief among them is Atomic Chairman Lewis Strauss. The Reserve Admiral and former New York banker has become increasingly controversial in recent months. He was a target in the last Congress, and is certain to be subjected to even harsher criticism in the next one—particularly if the Democrats are in control.

They credit him with being the principal author of most of the Eisenhower atomic policies which are under fire.

Also directly involved in the backstage warring are Dr. Teller, three former members of the Atomic Commission, White House secretary Sherman Adams, a number of scientists, some of them holding key government positions, and Pentagon security officials.

The latter have filed sharp complaints over the way the Atomic Commission handled the security of the manuscript of a recently-published book.

The document was sent to the Pentagon authorities for their examination. But before they could complete that, the Atomic Commission cleared the book.

Later, the Pentagon ruled against the release of certain information in the volume—on the ground it would be highly valuable to Russia.

This is another of the backstage clashes that the Joint Committee members contend should be fully investigated.

Another of these explosive disputes involves the General Advisory Committee of the Atomic Energy Commission. This Committee, made up of scientists, was set up by Congress for the express purpose of supervising the work and policies of the Commission. The law requires the Committee to meet four times a year to perform this vital function.

The terms of three top members of the Committee have expired, but for an unexplained reason the President has made no move to either reappoint or to replace them.

Strauss' congressional critics are charging him with being responsible for this delay.

Why the delay—The three scientists are:

Dr. I. I. Rabi, chairman of the Advisory Committee, who is a noted professor of physics of Columbia University; Dr. Oliver E. Buckley, former research director of Bell Telephone Laboratory; and Dr. John von Neumann, of the Institute of Advanced Study. Head of this Institute is Dr. Robert Oppenheimer, who was officially declared a security risk last summer in a case largely instituted by Strauss, who, in turn, is head of the board of trustees of the Institute.

Members of the Joint Congressional Committee are saying that they have been told that Strauss is seeking control of the Advisory Committee, because it has differed with him on atomic power and other controversial policies.

It is claimed that members of the Advisory Committee have urged a greater government role in developing atomic power than is favored by Strauss.

Also, members of the Advisory Committee disapproved of the action against Oppenheimer, and have vigorously challenged certain claims made for Dr. Teller, who testified against Oppenheimer.

Much of the congressional hostility towards Strauss is based on charges and arguments made by present and former Democratic members of the Atomic Commission. These sources have supplied a lot of ammunition against him, but they are not the only ones.

Clothing For Needy Operations

—by H. G. Heller

Surprising as this may be to many of us, there's a continuing need for clothing for many children in Monroe County which is being met each day by an organization which seeks little or no publicity, but which does a most effective job.

It is the Monroe County Children's Clothing Society—a group created as a non-profit corporation to raise funds and carefully expend them for clothing needs.

For many years there was no corporation. It was a one man task carried out effectively by Ernest H. Wyckoff who tried to fill a gap in filling the needs of less fortunate children who came to the attention of many welfare workers operating throughout the county.

While Mr. Wyckoff's generosity was never stunted one bit, the task became too great for one man, hence the non-profit corporation and the quiet contacts here and there to keep the clothing fund up to a point where it could meet the requirements.

Here is an instance where the question of need cannot be questioned.

Every single case is approved by one of the county's welfare workers. In each instance the need factor is known together, usually, with the reasons for the need in each instance. That is important, although it may be that some children are victims of circumstances over which they have no control.

At the moment the Monroe County Children's Clothing Society officers are Merle Ostrom, general manager of the Daily Record; Attorney Arlington W. Williams, Mrs. Helen Minnich of the State Department of Health Clinic center here, and Mr. Wyckoff.

Each year the clothing society must have a minimum of some $2,000 to supply the clothing requirements which come to the attention of the society.

Contracts for funds are made largely by letters to various individuals, but we know of instances where people who know what a tremendous job the society does, walk in and leave a generous cash contribution.

They do that because they know the need is there; the need is thoroughly bona fide because of the contacts and knowledge of varied welfare workers; the clothing is carefully selected and soundly purchased and fitted.

If you feel moved to be a part of this quiet but most worthy and effective project, you need only contact one of the officers and make your contribution.

Now is the time to do it. The society is getting ready to arrange a supply of clothing for the protection of the less fortunate youngsters in the winter months ahead.

Businessmen Donate $200 To Parade

SCIOA—Stroudsburg Businessmen's Association last night contributed $200 toward Halloween parade prizes, matching $200 contributed by East Stroudsburg Businessmen, at a meeting in Linden Court here.

Parade will be on November 1. It will start in Stroudsburg and conclude in East Stroudsburg with a dance and prize awarding in the Armory.

Ed Somers, John Quaresimo and A. A. Widmer make up the parade committee for Stroudsburg.

Jack Kerlin, chairman of merchant traffic committee filed a report on a state retailers' convention in Harrisburg recently which showed best success in handling parking lot development comes from Parking Lot Authorities.

Kerlin said community after community reported the parking situation "licked" through this method. He said he is assembling all available information on the matter and suggested a committee be named to go before Stroudsburg Council with the material and a request council study an authority proposal.

Merchants adopted a motion which recommends that Stroudsburg merchants close Saturday nights and remain open until 9 a. m. Thursdays starting Jan. 1, 1955.

The matter will now go out in petition form to all businessmen. Harold Swenson told of plans for a Pennsylvania Week industrial show. Merchants decided to enter an exhibit to the retail mercantile industry in the Poconos.

Council Agrees To Settlement

BANGOR—An out-of-court settlement of $3,500 was approved by council last night in connection with a lawsuit involving payment for services of a former borough solicitor.

The trial started yesterday in Northampton County court, with the Fred T. Woodley estate as plaintiff and the borough as defendant.

The estate filed suit in 1951, claiming $10,000 for services rendered by Woodley during his term as borough solicitor from 1941 to 1946.

According to James Pritchard, acting borough solicitor in the suit, the morning's testimony revolved around plaintiff's estimate of the value of Woodley's services—between $16,500 and $20,000 based on 200 days of work at a $100-a-day rate.

Council's agreement to the proposed $3,500 settlement means that the suit will likely be dropped. Pritchard and J. Lawrence Davis, borough solicitor, remarked that they thought the amount of $3,500 a fair settlement.

Davis and Woodley were law partners during the period in question. Accordingly, Davis asked Pritchard and Jacob A. Raub, Easton, to handle the current case. Davis told council the two attorneys were serving without fee.

Fred Sleep, Northampton St., a Republican, was sworn in as councilman representing the First Ward by Burgess Hayden B. Pritchard. Sleep was elected by council at their September meeting to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Harry B. Desher Sr.

In other business, council accepted the bid of the Bangor Lumber Co. for 15 tons of pea coal at $14.87 per ton and 100 tons of barley coal at $11.24 a ton. A bid for furnishing and installing an oil burner furnace in the Second Ward Fire Hall was awarded to Leroy Nicholson, of Bangor, for $1160.

Council President John I. Correll reported a bill of approximately $1,350 due the borough from the

CONGRATULATIONS... TO EFFORT AND GILBERT RESIDENTS

Patrons of the post offices at Gilbert and Effort have won their fight to keep the 104-year tradition of their post offices unbroken.

The Post Office Department has abandoned its plans to close these two post offices.

These plans would not have been abandoned if citizens and their representatives had not stood firmly for their rights. This is reassuring evidence of what can be done by representative government... with an effective chain of contact from local representatives who thoroughly understand local needs, up to the higher echelons of government.

The following letters are reprinted because they illustrate a typical example of local government in operation.

It's an interesting story—and shows that good representation plus an aroused community are an unbeatable combination.

Monroe County Republican Committee

Hon. Edward Martin
Hon. James H. Duff
United States Senate

May 27, 1954

Dear Senators:

An investigation of the postal needs in Monroe County, Pennsylvania, disclosed that the fourth class post offices at Gilbert and Effort may properly be discontinued and the patrons served by carrier from Brodheadsville, a third class office two miles from each community. The communities are actually extensions of the town of Brodheadsville. The changes in star route to serve the patrons will be an additional $306.39 per annum and the overall savings resulting from these changes will be approximately $5200 per annum.

The salary of the postmaster at Gilbert, Lloyd J. Arnold, is $2377.28 per annum, including longevity compensation, plus an allowance of $356.59 for rent, light, fuel and equipment. The receipts of the office for the calendar year 1953 were $966.98. The postmaster is eligible for optional retirement. The Gilbert post office serves approximately seventy families through call boxes and general delivery. Of these approximately twenty are located conveniently to the post office and the others are required to travel a distance up to two miles to obtain service. The population center is located at least one and one-fourth miles from the post office and virtually all the residents in this area have elected to receive box delivery. The only businesses are a general store, a service station-garage, and a feed and grain business. The salary of the postmaster at Effort, Mrs. Etta E. Rinker, is $2336.04 per annum, plus an allowance of $350 for rent, light, fuel and equipment. The receipts of the office for the calendar year 1953 were $1096.13. The Effort post office serves approximately fifty-two families through call boxes and general delivery. Many of these families travel up to three miles to obtain service, although virtually all patrons of the office are already located on, or adjacent to, routes which are required to perform box delivery and collection service. A majority of the residents in the area have elected to receive box delivery service. Three star routes converge at Effort and in addition Kunkletown rural route No. 2 serves practically all of the two main roads on which the community is located, causing a duplication of service. The only businesses in the community are a general store, a service-station garage, and a small diner.

In view of the substantial savings involved, together with the fact there is a duplication of service in the area, the Department is of the opinion the above post offices should be discontinued and mail sent to Brodheadsville. Please advise if you know of any reason this action should not be taken.

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) N. R. ABRAMS,
Assistant Postmaster General

Dear Ben:

Senator Martin has received a report from the Post Office Department, copy of which is enclosed, concerning the proposed discontinuance of the post offices at Gilbert and Effort, Pennsylvania.

During the past several months we have received several protests of such action from patrons of the post offices in question. From Gilbert, we have received letters of protest from Rev. Alton P. Albright of the Pleasant Valley Evangelical and Reformed Church; Mr. A. E. Krome and Mr. Lloyd Arnold.

With reference to the closing of the Effort post office we have letters of protest from Mr. Lawrence Liero, Better Made Manufacturing Company, Effort, Pa.; and Senator Montgomery F. Crowe. Senator Crowe has also protested against the closing of the Gilbert post office.

Will you please check into the situation locally and advise us at your earliest convenience of your recommendation for or against the closing of these post offices.

With kindest personal regards, I am,
Very sincerely,

Dear George:

It would be detrimental to us to have the post offices at Effort and Gilbert closed. We have had numerous requests from the residents from that vicinity for the post offices to remain.

George, these are two small Penna. Dutch communities where the people like to gather to talk things over. You can understand that going after the mail is a daily event that they all enjoy.

We will appreciate your influence in keeping these offices open.

Kindest regards to you and Senator Martin.

Dear Mr. Abrams:

proposed discontinuance of the Post Offices at Gilbert and Effort, both in Monroe County, Pennsylvania, I have made extensive inquiries into the situation existing in both of these localities and after careful consideration of the facts contained in your letter and local conditions, I respectfully recommend that the Post Offices at Gilbert and Effort be kept open.

Your favorable consideration of this request will be greatly appreciated.

Integration Disputes Spread To Washington; More Demonstrations Take Place In Baltimore

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The first sign of trouble in the nation's capital over mixing the races in schools developed Monday with hundreds of white students demonstrating at two Washington high schools.

Demonstrations against integration spread in Baltimore where two bands of marching students numbering several hundred, paraded through the streets. At least nine Baltimore schools reported demonstrations as classes started.

In Washington, some 400 of the 1,250 students enrolled at Anacostia High gathered across the street from the school and jeered their principal's pleas that they return to classes. The demonstrators booed 43 Negro students as they entered the building.

One striking student said admittance of 20 additional Negroes to Anacostia Friday caused the demonstration.

A similar demonstration was staged at McKinley High in Washington by about 150 boys and girls but they were persuaded to transfer their protest meeting to a classroom. The meeting broke up in confusion.

Several students criticized admittance of Negroes to McKinley with one girl declaring she was "afraid to walk down the hall."

They walk right up behind me and say things I wouldn't repeat."

A majority of the students, however, appeared to favor a suggestion by Anthony Green, one of the school's football players, that a committee be named to handle the situation. But dozens of students walked out when another student suggested that the pupils go home and stay out at least a week "if you want the rest to follow you."

The District of Columbia plan for ending racial segregation in schools had brought expressions of hope from President Eisenhower and others that it would become a model for other sections to follow in carrying out the U. S. Supreme Court's ruling outlawing segregation.

The shouting crowds of students in Baltimore made stops at the City Hall and called for Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro. Both crowds were scattered by police but they formed later and continued their marching. One of the groups covered a dozen miles by noon.

At Southern High School where six persons were arrested Friday after a white man struck a Negro student, school officials estimated only 500 of the 1,700 students enrolled reported for classes Monday. Twenty of the 36 Negroes enrolled attended classes. Fifty policemen were stationed around the school and others were on duty at intersections for several blocks in all directions.

Baltimore police made two arrests. Charles Luthardt, 46, was taken into custody across the street from Southern High and charged with disorderly conduct. Chief Inspector Fred I. Ford said Luthardt was "inciting trouble."

A Negro who had escorted several Negro students to Southern was arrested, Ford said, when he was found to be carrying a knife.

Baltimore schools have an enrollment of 140,957, of which 85,626 are whites and 55,331 are Negroes. Integration programs have been started at 52 of the 190 Baltimore schools.

University Women's Club Hears Of Ways To Help In UN World Children's Fund

The usual "Tricks or Treats" for Halloween have in many localities had a deeper significance than candies and cookies for the small masqueraders. In asking for tricks or treats, they have asked not for themselves but for contributions for the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

Now in its sixth year, the children have collected more than $100,000 in pennies and nickels for this cause, the local branch of the American Association of University Women heard last night from Miss Gertrude Ely, of Bryn Mawr, chairman of the Pennsylvania Committee for UNICEF.

Miss Ely also told of other projects by which individuals and groups could help in what she termed "The greatest child welfare project in history."

The Children's Emergency Fund was the first agency set up within the framework of the United Nations after its charter had been signed, she said. All the delegates at the charter conference considered children as their prime responsibility and the greatest sufferers in war and its aftermath.

The program has grown, she said until 80 countries are now receiving help. There are 55 governments now contributing to the fund which is allocated only on request of the country needing it and on their guarantee to match the aid given in funds and goods.

The United States, she said, is the biggest contributor to the 14 and a half million dollar fund, which was the amount in 1953. Requests for the coming year already total more than 21 million dollars.

Second greatest contributor to the fund, she said, is surprisingly enough, small Thailand. Only one of the Communist countries to contribute or use the resources of the fund, she said, is Yugoslavia.

Of the world's 900 million children, she said, more than two thirds have already received some form of help from the fund. This help comes in the form of distribution of dried milk, in sanitation, in medical care.

"We are just on the threshold of the great things which might be accomplished for the children of the world," she said, and outlined ways in which individuals could help. In addition to the "Tricks or Treats" program, there are the sale of Christmas cards with the proceeds going to the fund, the rental of moving pictures on children, and of the strip film with recorded narrative.

She urged anyone interested in the program to get in touch with her, Miss Gertrude Ely, Chairman Pennsylvania Committee, United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Her talk followed the opening supper of the organization held in the Stroud Community House and served at small tables bright with flowers and candy. Mrs. S. M. Monatt was chairman of the hostess committee.

Mrs. J. L. Cohen, president, presided at the business meeting when reports of committees and of the conference at Bryn Mawr were given. Mrs. Charles Albert introduced the speaker.

Cinderella leaving the ball at midnight, the boy with the mumps watching his playmates outside the window, the poor children with their noses pressed against the glass of the candy store, none of them more forlorn than I.

I had to leave the AAUW supper before they served that wonderful cake or introduced all those interesting-looking people. Had to hear the sounds of the parade going by without being able to see a thing.

Well, the news is interesting enough to have kept me from brooding, but nevertheless it will be a comfort to have one day in which I can stay just as long as anybody else. As a matter of fact there wouldn't be anyway of leaving if I would.

We're talking now about the United Nations trip for parents which Miss Lillian Stark is shepherding to New York today. You know parents are sometimes the forgotten people, and it will be good for their morale to be able to speak on even terms for once.

That's not as exaggerated as you might think. Through the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts our youngsters are traveling to places we've never seen. Through the field trips in school they're visiting places whose doors would open reluctantly to bashful parents. Through programs and music they're learning things we never knew.

But until they read the editorial page before the comics, I refuse to feel inferior to any of the little sn - - - pardon me, sophisticates.

Paxtons Home For Oct.

Salesmen are always interesting. In the first place, they are usually well informed people who can talk with anyone on his own level. In the second place, they are more enthusiastic and better informed than most people, on at least one subject—whatever it is they happen to be selling for a living. That's why it was pleasant to meet our Exquisite Form representative this past Saturday, and to learn from him how it may be possible for some Wyckoff customer to win the $8,500 jackpot on "Stop the Music."

The Bert Parks program has been a favorite with millions of listeners for some time, and everyone knows about the lucky telephone calls that bring dollars to any listener who can identify the tune being played at the moment. Well, "Stop the Music" is now being sponsored every-other-week by Exquisite Form, and the ONLY WAY to enter one's name is by coming right into our store and signing an entry blank in our contest department. These are sent in to New York each Saturday night, and chances are excellent that some magic night, as the calls are placed, the word "Stroudsburg" will light up as a lucky call bounds over local wires.

Mr. Rubin was emphatic in saying that there is no expense or obligation entailed in becoming a contestant. The entry blanks are absolutely free, and it is asked only that they be signed right in the store and given to one of our contesters. There's nothing to lose either, because if you are called and cannot identify the tune, you will receive a bra wardrobe for one year. Already, Mr. Rubin says, several have gone to contestants here in Northeastern Pennsylvania.

Never before have I seen enthusiasm to surpass that projected by this very pleasant young sales representative. He most emphatically feels that the manufacturer he represents has a product superior to any other on the market, and after a few minutes of hearing about the advantages of tangent straps and such, you'd gladly rush right out and buy an Exquisite Form, if you weren't already wearing one.

His company, he tells you, is the first bra manufacturing company to advertise its product on a coast-to-coast radio-television, and the first to advertise on TV by using live models. He also points out that his company sells more bras than any other company in the United States than does any other company. "We don't export as extensively as some companies," but ours is the leading brassiere nationally, which proves how good it is.

Frankly, we've been convinced that Exquisite Forms are excellent for a long time now . . . but, as I said before, enthusiasm is contagious and every good salesman has it. So now . . . in the same spirit . . . we suggest that you listen to the Bert Parks show this Tuesday night at 10:30 over WABC-TV, following the United States Steel Hour. Listen to hear whether or not A. B. Wyckoff, your Exquisite Form dealer, is mentioned . . . and watch to see if the telephone calls come to nearby towns. Then come in and fill out an entry blank. When Bert Parks stops the music some sweet night, maybe you'll be singing out a money-jingling song title. We hope so!

RILEY

Sports Editor

Stroudsburg High football stock went up several points over the weekend, despite the fact that the Mountaineers were hard pressed to defeat a winless Palmerton High grid contingent at Gordon Giffels Field Friday night. Although the Mountaineers must improve on the brand of play they demonstrated against Palmerton, the charges of Coach Jerry Stulgaitis find themselves very much in the center of the Lehigh Valley League championship race at the present time.

The reason for the sudden change in the football picture at the W. Main St. school is the fact that Emmus surprised the entire area football world by holding powerful Northampton to a 13-13 deadlock last Saturday. The previous week many Stroudsburg fans frowned and heaped abuse on the Mountaineers because they battled the same Emmus crew to a 6-6 stalemate on the Emmus field. Now as the picture unfolds Stroudsburg's football players should have been receiving praise instead of abuse from followers of football on W. Main St.

Emmus is undoubtedly the most underrated club in the entire Lehigh Valley this season, one that will play an important role in the championship race. Stroudsburg hasn't tasted defeat in the Lehigh Valley League as yet, earning a 26-12 nod over Slatington, battling Emmus to a 6-6 tie and then outlasting Palmerton last Friday, 12-7, after scoring a touchdown in the last three minutes of play. On the surface the tie with Emmus may have been the most important verdict of the three.

Veteran observers had informed this scribe that Emmus featured a fleet of fast moving backs, who could run, pass and handle the ball like a basketball team. Many thought the green and white clad gridgers were one year away from prominence, but instead they were actually only one week away from the biggest football surprise in these parts this season. Stroudsburg's deadlock with Emmus may loom even bigger as the present campaign nears the finish line. If the Mountaineers can pass Slatington, Whitehall and Northampton this season, they could very easily take home the flag.

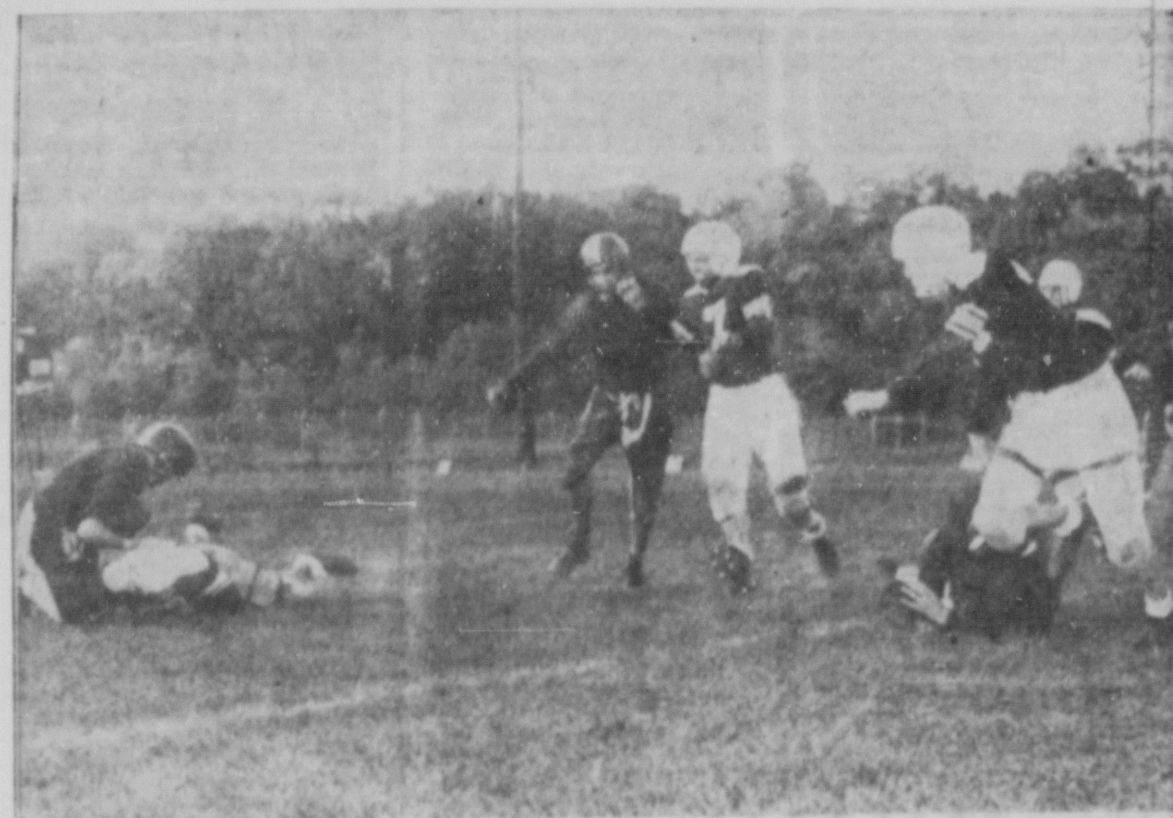

Although the entire Stroudsburg squad wasn't as sharp as many of us had hoped for against Palmerton, I believe Don Deibler played the finest game of his scholastic career. The hard charging fullback, who also plays basketball, was the big individual yardage gainer for the home team, as he took turns slashing the visiting blue and white clad line and circling the ends. Don was near exhaustion following the game — and for good reason.

I firmly believe the presence of Roger Lane in the Stroudsburg lineup was the difference between victory and defeat against Palmerton. Roger was used only in spots last Friday, but the home team appeared much stronger when the Mount Pocono resident was in action. It was Lane who scored the winning touchdown after taking a pass from Paul "Doc" Lim. He caught the ball on the eighty-yard line and crossed the goal standing up. Lane, who played his first game of the season last week, should greatly aid the Mountaineers in the championship battle ahead.

The presence of Francis "Fritz" Hasara in the Stroudsburg lineup will also greatly strengthen the W. Main St. club for the remainder of the season. Hasara, a fine end, also played his initial game of the campaign last Friday. Doug Shook, towering right end, made the "catch of the season" when he knocked down a Lim pass with one hand and caught the ball with the other. The play occurred in the first half of the Palmerton contest. Wally Adelmann's play at tackle has been outstanding, as has Dave Nevil at left end. Captain Dick Hintze is doing a fine job of leading the Mountaineers.

Although many of the individuals on the Stroudsburg team have shown outstanding ability to date, the future success of the Mountaineers is to be found in the ranks of the substitutes. The reserves hold the key to future victories of the Stulgaitismen. Members of the reserve corps must work even harder than the regulars in the next couple of weeks, so that they may acquire the polish that will enable them to replace a regular without any loss of power. This factor and this factor alone holds the fate of the Mountaineers in the balance.

Pope Pius Gridgers Bow 25-0

Allentown Shows Burst Of Late Power

ALLENTOWN—Pope Pius X High School opened its football season on a losing note here yesterday as Allentown Central Catholic High junior varsity rolled to a 25-0 victory on the Muhlenberg College Field.

Pope Pius High, located in Roseto, held Central Catholic on even terms through the first quarter and trailed by only a 6-0 margin at halftime.

But the numerical superiority of the Allentown club told in the second half, especially in the last period.

Allentown led 12-0 at the end of three quarters and then picked up two touchdowns and an extra point in the final period.

Central Catholic scoring featured Weider in two touchdowns and Caluerti and Kelly one each, the latter scoring on a pass. Malloy accounted for the extra point.

Al DeFranco was the best running back for the Pope Pius charges of Coach Joe Villano, while Don Guido, Anthony DeThomas and Sam Janette were the leading linemen.

Pope Pius has four and possibly five games remaining on the schedule, the next being a tussle with Belvidere High junior varsity a week from today, an Bangor's Memorial Park.

Games are also listed with Pen Argyl, Monday, October 18, at Pen Argyl; Phillipsburg Parochial, Sunday, October 31, at Bangor; a return game with Phillipsburg Parochial, at Phillipsburg, on Monday, November 15.

It is also quite possible that St. John's High School, of Brooklyn, will play Pope Pius High in Bangor late next month.

Stroudsburg Escapes Injury In Battle With Palmerton

STROUDSBURG HIGH SCHOOL'S grid machine fought its way through last Friday night's football game with Palmerton without a serious injury, it was revealed yesterday by Jerry Stulgaitis, head coach of the Mountaineers.

Don Deibler, hard running fullback, suffered bruised ribs late in the ball game but was reported in good condition after the game and yesterday was ready to resume practice, although the varsity enjoyed a day away from the drill field.

Yesterday was the first day off for Stroudsburg, as far as practice is concerned, since the present campaign got underway.

Stulgaitis said that Deibler was the only member of the squad to receive a severe bruise, although other team members came up with slight bumps and bruises.

Stroudsburg won over Palmerton by a 12-7 count.

The Mountaineers return to the practice field today in an effort to get ready for Saturday afternoon's clash with Pen Argyl. The game will be held at Weona Park, Pen Argyl, with the kickoff slated to take place at 2 p.m.

Stroudsburg plays host to undefeated Bangor on Friday, October 15, in a night game at Gordon Giffels Field.

While the varsity Mountaineers enjoyed a day off from practice yesterday the entire varsity staff worked with George Metropoulos, junior varsity mentor, in drilling the junior varsity contingent.

Sommers Lost To Cavaliers For Six Weeks

EAST STROUDSBURG High emerged from last Friday night's grueling football struggle with Bangor High with one serious injury and one of a minor nature, plus the usual number of bumps and bruises.

The injury fell to the lot of Bill Sommers, first string quarterback and number one passer on the N. Courtland St. squad. Sommers suffered a chipped ankle bone and torn ligaments that will keep him out of action for at least six weeks. The injury occurred when the East Stroudsburg quarterback was tackled late in the ball game.

Sommers' latest injury occurred on the same ankle that was fractured a few years ago, but on the opposite side of the leg. Bill was on crutches and the injured ankle was well bandaged yesterday.

The injury of a minor nature was received by hard playing Mike Palmisano. Mike suffered damaged ribs early in the now famous struggle which Bangor won by a 31-9 score.

Coach Jack Kist reported that otherwise as far as he knew the squad was in good shape, with only the usual number of bumps and bruises hampering his charges at the present time.

East Stroudsburg enjoyed a day off from the practice field yesterday but will begin preparation for next Saturday night's tussle with Lehigh today. The game will be played at Lehigh, getting underway at 8 p.m.

John Heard, Daily Record correspondent in the State Belt, made public the following offensive figures from Friday's Bangor-East Stroudsburg tussle yesterday.

Oklahoma Tops In Football Poll

By WILL GRIMSLEY
NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (AP)—Oklahoma profited by idleness over the weekend, missing a plague of upsets, and recaptured first place today in The Associated Press College football poll. Beaten Notre Dame tumbled from first to eighth.

Purdue, 27-14 conqueror of the fighting Irish in one of the season's biggest surprises, rose from 19th to fifth place. Ohio State at tenth became the only other newcomer to the top 10 on the strength of its 21-13 triumph over California.

Dropping out were Maryland, last year's national champion, which fell from sixth to 13th after losing to UCLA 12-7, and Penn State, which dropped two notches from 10th for no apparent reason. Penn State beat Syracuse 13-0 for its second victory.

Oklahoma's Sooners captured 77 of the 173 first place votes cast by sports writers and broadcasters across the nation and amassed a total of 1,369 points. Points are awarded on the basis of 10 for a first place vote, 9 for second, etc.

Following Oklahoma in the first bracket were: UCLA, No. 2; Wisconsin, No. 3; Iowa, No. 4; Purdue, No. 5; Duke, No. 6; Mississippi, No. 7; Notre Dame, No. 8; Southern California, No. 9; Ohio State, No. 10.

The second 10 in order:

Rice, Penn State, Maryland, Florida, Texas, West Virginia, Stanford, Minnesota and Navy and Virginia tied.

Oklahoma won the No. 1 place in the opening Associated Press poll after beating California 27-13, but dropped back to second a week ago when Notre Dame showed such power in its opening 21-0 triumph over Texas. The Sooners had an open date last Saturday.

The voting was so close the five top teams each received more than 1,000 points, a rarity in the poll.

Purdue drew the second largest number of Maryland, New York Ring Groups Agree

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (AP)—Robert K. Christenberry, chairman of the State Athletic Commission, said today a working agreement has been signed by the New York and Maryland state commissions.

Christenberry said the compact was sealed after he and Marshall Boone of the Maryland commission had discussed boxing and wrestling problems over the weekend. He said the agreement calls for mutual recognition of each state's suspensions and other penalties.

At the same time, Christenberry said he will meet in New York with Boone and the chief commissioner of nine other states at the end of October to discuss boxing and wrestling matters.

Christenberry said Boone had made a survey of wrestling and will make a report to the others. He said Boone declared the National Wrestling Alliance is a monopoly and that Boone will make recommendations for a general tightening of the rules and regulations on wrestling.

Invited to the commissioners' meeting are the commission heads of Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, Indiana, and Rhode Island in addition to Maryland.

United States Clinches Davis Cup Decision Over Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 4 (AP)—The United States clinched the American Zone Davis Cup tennis title today as Vic Seixas of Philadelphia defeated Mexico's Mario Llamas in a drizzling rain 6-4, 2-6, 6-3, 6-2.

The victory gave the Americans a lead of 3-1 over Mexico in the best-of-five series and made a formality of the final singles match between Tony Trabert of Cincinnati and Mexico's Gustavo Palacios.

Like Seixas, Trabert got off to a shaky start but swept Palacios in straight sets, 14-12, 6-1, 6-2.

The United States next plays Sweden, European zone winner, at Brisbane, Australia, December 17-19, to pick a challenger for Australia, present holder of the trophy.

The game will be played in Madison Square Garden, Saturday, October 23.
